

Jasir Adeyemi

Evangelist Jasir Adeyemi grew up on the streets of Detroit, MI outwardly seeming no different from anyone else. However under the happy smiles, the sports accolades and social popularity. He had been tormented mentally with addictive perversion and violent impulses since the age of three. With no way to express what was plaguing him mentally, the perversion lead to addiction to women, drugs, fighting, and other criminal acts. The physical and mental perversion ensued a mindset that caused perpetual lust and aggression, which took him far from where God wanted him to be.

Although Jasir was raised in the house under a pastor, a holy living man and a perfect example of what a man should be and a man of integrity, He still found himself tormented and wondering "God, why me?" Many nights he spent trying to escape his demons to the point of suicidal attempts. But God would not allow him to die even after experiencing cars flipping over, knife fights, bullets missing him at gun-point, and several dangerous sexual affairs. After each near death experience he repeatedly asked God, "Why must I live in this torment? Let me die...today."

This vicious death cycle continued, until at age of 26 while praying with his parents God spoke to Jasir in an open vision. Telling him that from this point forward he would free him and that he would lead an army of men to change the face of America. Transforming this generation to a nation of people with power and discipline.

God then instructed Jasir to go to Iowa. Since that time in 99 God has lead him to three other states while serving under five total pastors. Each time he gained special anointing's and more mental discipline.

All of us may not have the outward vice or addiction like alcoholism, gambling, sex, pornography, and violence. But all of us are born with a vice. The bible says that the flesh is born wicked. All of us are born with "a thorn" that is holding us back that we must fight through. So Evangelist Adeyemi with a vehement desire shares his testimony of deliverance. Offering freedom to those bound and addicted nationwide.

Being referred to as a "spiritual psychiatrist." He has a Word from God and an anointing. Not only to give natural enlightenment, he has a God given power for deliverance, which removes the burdens and destroys the yokes we deal with. So we are able to finally fulfill our destiny & purpose as soldiers walking as God men.
